

Blue mouse wakes up. When she looks out of the window she squeals with delight. It's snowing! She has her breakfast and puts on her warm clothes and boots. Dad fetches her sledge from the shed and they set off to call for Red mouse.

How many birds can you see hiding?

Red mouse is just putting his boots on. "Come on let's see if Roly can play out," he calls. They follow dad's big footprints in the snow. Roly is looking out of his window. He is so excited, he jumps up and down when he sees them.

Count the footsteps in the snow. How many can you see?

Roly rushes out to meet them. "Let's make a snowman," he shouts. Just at that moment snow slides off the roof and completely covers poor Roly. They all laugh. "Look! A Roly snowman," giggles mum. Roly laughs and wipes the snow from his eyes and shakes it from his clothes. He throws a snowball at his friends.

Who is the snowman?

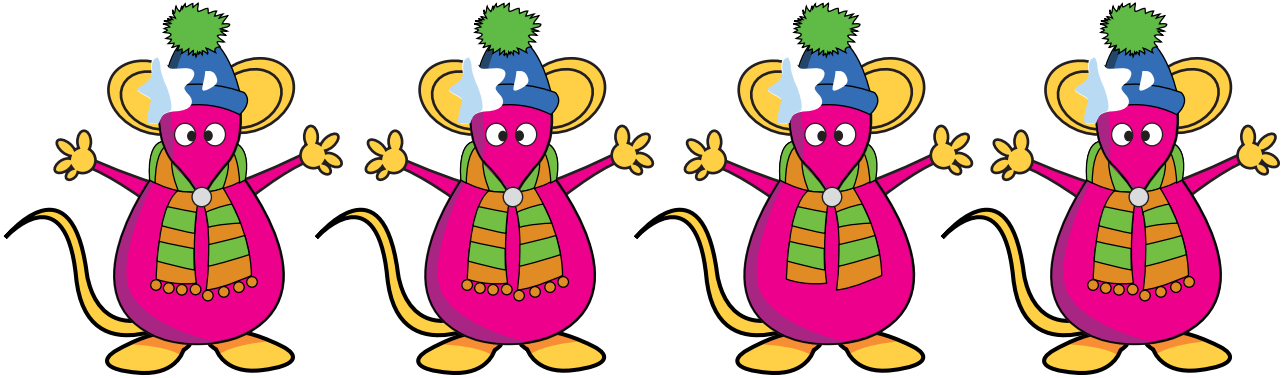

"Come on let's go sledding," calls Blue Mouse. "Be careful," calls mum. They have a great time going up and down the hill in the park. "Time for tea," calls mum. The friends say goodbye and go home. Mum helps Roly change into warm, dry clothes and he snuggles up warm and cosy in front of the fire. "That was good fun," yawns Roly and before he knows it his eyes close tight and he falls fast asleep.
